ERIKS Deliver a Solution to an Obsolete Pump Problem

ERIKS Specialists Identified the Pump Model Although the Plate Details Were Missing

ISSUE

A food manufacturer had a faulty pump on one of their sites. The unit was causing a number of issues, however, the customer was unable to identify the pump model as the plate details had been removed.

SOLUTION

The company contacted ERIKS' pump specialists to solve the problem. After identifying the manufacturer ERIKS set about narrowing down the old model by taking various measurements.

Once the pump was identified a modern day equivalent pump was ordered as replacement and obtained on a next day delivery to get the site up and running.
